

1 April 2010
No. 04/2010

TOYO TIRES launch Proxes T1 Sport in Europe

Available throughout Europe from Spring 2010, Proxes T1 Sport is the new reference sports tire. Developed in response to the demand for the ultimate handling tire for powerful saloons and sportscars, Proxes T1 Sport offers class leading handling on both wet and dry roads.

Proxes T1 Sport is an asymmetric tire with a dual tread compound. The inside compound is focused on traction and braking while the outside compound is specifically designed for supreme cornering performance.

A new bonding agent within the tread rubber improves the handling of the tire by giving the compound exceptional rigidity under high loading when cornering and braking.

A wider profile design featuring a revised casing profile gives Proxes T1 Sport even contact pressure during cornering and braking.

With profound improvements in wet and dry handling and significantly improved wet braking, Proxes T1 Sport raises the bar of Ultra High Performance tires to a new level.

Proxes T1 Sport will be initially available in 51 sizes from 16" to 20" and in profiles from 55 series to 30 series.

PROXES T1 Sport

For further information: www.toyotires.eu press@toyotires.eu